

JAPAN'S PEACE TERMS

Are Being Strictly Guarded by The Mikado's Envoys at Portsmouth Mouth

Conditions on Which Japan Presented to Russians in Envoys Will Study Them Then Meeting of Envoys Will

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 10.—The conditions on which Japan desires to make peace were presented to the Russian envoys in writing at the meeting this morning. It was then decided that Russians will study the question and will, as soon as possible, give an answer in writing. Until then the meetings of the conference are adjourned. The question of the powers of the envoys was also regulated at the meeting so that little difficulty will be experienced on that subject hereafter. The above announcements were made officially after this morning's meeting.

The peace envoys assembled promptly this morning for their second day's session. The formal exchange of credentials was made consummating what had been unofficially done yesterday.

Baron Komura, the senior Japanese envoy, immediately after the envoys and their secretaries had assembled in making the presentation of his credentials and also of his colleague, again expressed regret at his misunderstanding of the purposes of yesterday's meeting whereby he had neglected to bring his papers. Again cordial assurances that no inconveniences had resulted were given Rosen and Witte.

No official information would be given out regarding the business to be taken up at today's session, except that the formal presentation of credentials would be made.

RUSSIA HOPEFUL

Reported in St. Petersburg That Witte Knows Jap Terms and That They Are Acceptable.

(Bulletin.)

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10.—Government officials now take a more optimistic view of the outcome of the peace negotiations which are in progress at Portsmouth, and it is noticeable that they are hopeful that the war will be brought to an end.

It is reported today that M. Witte has telegraphed to the czar that he already knows the Japanese terms and that they are acceptable with a few amendments. He believes that Japan will agree to the changes which he will propose.

SPECULATION

On What Will be the Outcome of Present Peace Conference, Which Is Now in Progress.

Hotel Wentworth, Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 10.—It is the confident belief of those in unofficial circles who have kept in close touch with the present negotiations that the Russian envoys are preparing to leave the peace meetings as soon as Japan presents her demand for the settlement of the war, but they believe a treaty will be eventually signed.

It has been openly charged and as freely admitted that the mikado's terms will be very heavy. Russia talks of exorbitance. Japan refers to it as just compensation. The Russian envoys are known to have come to Portsmouth with the intention of paying well for the fiddling, but members of the suite have given it to be plainly understood that she does not purpose to be dancer, fiddler and payer all in one.

Japan points to her military and naval accomplishments and the necessity for a guarantee of future peace. She feels that the payment of a heavy debt by Russia will be a constant reminder of Japan's prowess and she also needs the money. These reasons are among those that it is believed are about to create a breach in peace negotiations. But notwithstanding the many outward evidences of cordiality and sincerity exhibited by Count Witte and Baron Rosen, there is deep skepticism of Russia's motives. She is believed to be executing a bluff.

At exactly what point in the finan-

the protocols of the meetings, which will be written in both English and French. The French text, however, in case of dispute, will be accepted in evidence (facie foi). The official versions of the meeting given out by each side describe it as "satisfactory," and other accounts indicate that while everything passed off amicably, considerable reserve was displayed upon both sides.

GEN. LINEVITCH

In Telegram to Emperor Reports Advance of Russian Force.—The Japanese Assumed Offensive.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10.—General Linevitch, in a telegram to the emperor dated Aug. 8, reports that the Russian force operating to the eastward of the Mandchurian road advanced Aug. 5 towards a defile near the village of Chagon, 24 miles south of Hailu. The Japanese assumed the offensive and turned both flanks, compelling the Russians to retreat to the northward. The Japanese followed in pursuit and again encountered part of the Russian force which halted in the adonin gorge, but after a hot fusillade they returned to the southward. The Russians in the Hailungcheng district, the general says, occupied the village of Yulangze after a skirmish.

TWENTY THOUSAND

Strike at Riga.—Some Men Are Deterred From Working By Threats of Socialists.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10.—The rumors of serious trouble at Riga were officially confirmed. Twenty thousand men are on strike there. Many of the strikers are desirous of working, but the Socialists deter them with threats of murder. It is declared that there is sufficient number of soldiers at Riga to handle any disturbance arising from the strike. A regiment of cavalry is patrolling the streets and keeping order. Numbers of shopkeepers had to stop work under compulsion. The agitators sacked a meat market because the owner refused to join the strikers. Two million dollars' worth of perishable merchandise is awaiting loading or reloading, and the merchants have applied for soldiers to act as stevedores in order to save this property.

IMMUNITY

Demanded by a Suspect Who Promises to Make a Confession.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—Harry Johnson, held with Harry Parker by the police on suspicion of murdering awnbroker Joseph Moyer in this city July 28, sent word to Captain McDonnell of the detective department that he wanted to make a confession. After an assistant prosecuting attorney and stenographer had been secured the party of officials went to Johnson's cell to take his confession. "I know all about the murder, and will make detailed statement if you will promise me immunity," he said, according to the officers. Assistant Prosecutor Vurzer replied that it was impossible under the law to make such promise, and as Johnson did not then evidence desire to continue his statement, the officers left him.

PARLIAMENT

Winds Up Its Business and Will Be Prorogued.

London, Aug. 10.—The British parliament will wind up its business this afternoon and will be prorogued at 10 a. m. Friday after a session chiefly marked by the uncertainty of the government's position. The closing days of parliament were especially interesting, because it was known that the opposition, urged on by John Redmond, the Irish leader, had carefully planned to bring off another defeat at the psychological moment in order to secure Premier Balfour's resignation. This organized effort, however, has been defeated by the activity of the government's whips.

Archbishop Chagelle Was Native of France, But Came to United States in the Year 1859.

New Orleans, Aug. 10.—The obsequies over the remains of the late Archbishop Chagelle, who died of yellow fever, were held at 10 o'clock today at the cathedral. There was a Gregorian requiem high mass sung, every member of the Catholic clergy in the city participating. Very Rev. Father LaValle, vicar general of the diocese, was the celebrant, and the eulogy was pronounced by Bishop G. A. Rouxel, with Reverends Scotti and Gardes as deacons of honor. The remains will be interred Saturday in the crypt in the cathedral, where his predecessor reposes. There will be none of the clergy from other points in the archdiocese present because of their inability to return to their homes on account of quarantine restrictions.

He went to the Philippines and took up the cause of the friars. During his stay in Manila he was thrown constantly into contact with Secretary Taft, then the governor of the islands, and they became warm personal friends.

TERRA NOVA SIGHTED.

(Bulletin.)

Christiania, Aug. 10.—The Terra Nova, the steamship sent out in March to relieve the Arctic exploring expedition, headed by Anthony Fiala of Brooklyn, which was sent out by the late William Ziegler, of New York, bearing the rescued members of the Fiala party who were found on Franz Josef Land, has been sighted off Hongsvaag.

The party succeeded in reaching a point 82 degrees, 15 minutes and one second north latitude.

The Fiala expedition set out from Tromsø, Norway, on June 28, 1903. The party started for Franz Josef Land, the purpose being to make their way over the ice to the pole if possible. Fiala's party included 25 men, all but one of whom were Americans. They sailed in the American steam whaling ship. Provisions for four years were carried and 250 Siberian dogs from the former Zeigler expedition were taken. The expedition was backed by the late William Ziegler.

Anthony Fiala, who headed the expedition was formerly an officer in the Cuban army and had had considerable experience in Arctic navigation. He was reported to be able to succeed in his undertaking.

All were reported to be in good health and the greater part of the ship's crew was crushed in the ice.

CAPTAIN TAGGART WORN AND HAGGARD

HE HAS DIRECTED EXAMINATION OF ALL WITNESSES AGAINST WIFE.

His Experience on the Stand Will be a Trying One, According to All Indications at Wooster.

Wooster, O., Aug. 10.—On the eve of his appearance on the witness stand Captain Taggart looks worn and haggard. Since the trial began Captain Taggart has been directing the case against his wife. This was plain before two days of trial had been completed. During the last two days, during the illness of one of his attorneys, his hand has been still more evident. He has directed the examination of all witnesses.

Captain Taggart's experience on the witness stand when his attorneys put him on today or tomorrow, to testify against his wife, will be a trying one, according to all indications. The cross-examination will cover nearly every incident mentioned in the trial and according to the statement of Mrs. Taggart's attorney may last longer than a full day of court.

When court opened today attorneys for Captain Taggart began reading a deposition from the house physician at Christ's hospital in Cincinnati, where Mrs. Taggart spent three months while Captain Taggart was in the Philippines.

By this witness and other hospital attendants heard early this week, the attorneys are attempting to get on the trial records a statement of the cause of Mrs. Taggart's confinement in the hospital.

When the morning session closed Judge Eason sustained the objection of Mrs. Taggart's attorneys and refused to admit in evidence a certified copy of the hospital records of Mrs. Taggart's case. The arguments had taken all morning. Mrs. Fannie Saffrons, a witness for Mrs. Taggart, arrived from Denver today.

SUNSHINE ACCIDENT

May Be Looked Into By the Grand Jury.—Captain's Defense.

New York, Aug. 10.—Chancellor Harbo announced that he will call for a deposition of the grand jury to the case of the Sun, who was killed in a collision with the steamer Sunshine, to determine if the inquiry into the accident should be produced at the inquiry.

YELLOW FEVER RECORD LARGE

INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF DEATHS AT NEW ORLEANS AND VICINITY.

Actual Control of Sanitary Work in Crescent City Passed to Marine Hospital Service.

New Orleans, Aug. 10.—Five deaths from yellow fever and 12 new cases were reported at 12 o'clock today.

New Orleans, Aug. 10.—The day's record of yellow fever cases was again large, and there was an increase in the number of deaths. The new cases are swelling largely as a result of the vim and energy which federal control of the situation has inspired and from a gradual overcoming of the disinclination of some of the doctors to make known their cases. The overwhelming preponderance of cases continues below Canal street. It was announced that action would be taken against property holders and tenants who are unwilling to acquiesce in the sanitary and other precautions recommended by the health authorities. House-to-house inspections are to be instituted and affidavits are to be prepared against those who are shown to have been derelict. Actual control of the sanitary work has passed to the marine hospital service, Dr. Gessner being placed in immediate charge.

SHEA CRITICISED

For Conduct of the Teamsters' Strike. His Reply.

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—Cornelius P. Shea of Boston, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, defended his conduct of the recent strike in Chicago at the session of the brotherhood annual convention. After giving in detail the events that led up to the trouble, President Shea said: "I did my duty as I saw it. And whatever responsibility is attached to the conduct of that strike I am not afraid to tell you—put it on the shoulders of Shea." President Shea came in for criticism when the reports of the executive members were read. Michael Casey of San Francisco, third vice president of the brotherhood, in his report characterized the strike as a dismal failure, that had brought the teamsters into disrepute. C. F. O'Neill of Buffalo, fifth vice president, upheld President Shea in his conduct of the strike. He said that in a short time the organization would be in a better condition than ever, and added: "The question arises as to what the employers of Chicago have to show for the million dollars they squandered in the effort to disrupt our organization."

WOMEN TAKE HAND

Hundreds of Loaves of Bread Are Taken By Women From Peddlers in New York City.

New York, Aug. 10.—Women joined in the strike operations of the kosher bread bakers, who are producing a bread famine in the Hebrew quarters of New York and Brooklyn. Hundreds of loaves of this bread were taken by women from peddlers who attempted to sell them and thrown into the gutters where mud caused by recent rains instantly ruined the foodstuff. Philadelphia shops are said to have supplied some of the kosher loaves, and acting on this rumor, the strikers say they will send a committee to Philadelphia to stop the exportation to New York if possible.

NAME WITHHELD

Chief Counsel for Insurance Investigating Committee of Legislature Not Yet Chosen.

New York, Aug. 10.—The chief counsel for the insurance investigating committee of the legislature has not yet been chosen. Despite the fact that the subcommittee met the full committee for the purpose of submitting to it the name of a man selected, the full committee adjourned without arriving at any decision. While no member of the investigating committee would officially affirm or deny the fact, it is the general impression that Charles E. Hughes is the choice for the position. It is also rumored that the name is due to a lack of authority from Mr. Hughes, who is in Europe.

WU TING FANG

Urges Modification of the Exclusion Act

DISCUSSES NEW CONVENTION

NEGROTS BOYCOTT AGAINST THE PRODUCTS OF UNITED STATES

Free Admission to Hawaii and the Philippines He Holds Wouldn't Hurt American Labor.

Peking, Aug. 10.—In discussing the existing regulations for the exclusion of Chinese from the United States, Wu Ting Fang, formerly minister at Washington, said the Chinese government urged as main points of a new convention that the better classes of Chinese be treated on an equal footing with other aliens, with the right to retain counsel, and the right of appeal if necessary, and the admission of coolies to Hawaii, which he regarded as of the utmost importance. Hawaii was greatly in need of laborers, Mr. Wu said, and since the Chinese were excluded the industries of the islands had suffered. At all events, the Chinese there could not compete with American labor. The Philippines had long been a natural field for Chinese industry, but the application of the exclusion act to the islands had changed this.

Regarding the Chinese boycott of American goods, Mr. Wu expressed himself as greatly regretting the movement, as it might estrange the goodwill of Americans, which he highly prized. Apparently, however, he said, the Chinese classes most concerned, considering that the prospects for the solution of the difficulties arising from the application of the exclusion act were remote, decided on the boycott as the only means of ventilating the question. He pointed out that the movement against Americans, though thoroughly organized by the best and most representative Chinese, was altogether pacific, and was not directed against persons or property. "I regret," he concluded the former minister, "that so little progress has been made in the negotiations for a new convention. Should the American government permit the wishes of China to be embodied in this convention it would practically have no effect on the United States, as Hawaii and the Philippines do not concern American labor, while the facilities required for superior Chinese immigrants in the United States are admittedly just and reasonable. I suggest that an educational test would be the most effective means of preventing the ingress of coolies and an easy means of ascertaining the eligibility of other classes, besides eliminating undesirable class distinctions." In conclusion Mr. Wu said it was his opinion that a clearer definition of the term "laborer" was necessary.

DISASTER

Which Caused Death and Injury of Many Albany People To Be Investigated.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 10.—The collapse of the John G. Myers company department store, which resulted in the death of 13 persons and probably the fatal injury of two others, will be investigated by a special commission. When the searchers announced their belief that no more bodies were in the ruins Mayor Gaus called a meeting of the heads of city departments and decided to appoint three non-residents, two building contractors and one civil engineer or architect, to inquire into the cause of the disaster and report where they placed the blame. To avoid a prejudiced inquiry, Mayor Gaus decided that all the investigators shall be out-of-town men.

They did not return to the city that night. No word was received from them until yesterday, when they came back to Omaha and announced that they were husband and wife. They went from here to St. Joseph, Mo., and were married there. Mr. Wood will remain in Omaha. He and his bride have already begun housekeeping here.

TRAVELING WITH TAFT

Incidents on Trip of War Secretary's Party to Manila.

GAY RECEPTION AT HONOLULU

The Hawaiian Band Played "Alice, Where Art Thou?" as the Manchuria Swung into the Pier and Kept It Up Until Miss Roosevelt Appeared—Effect of General Grosvenor's Dress Parade.

Honolulu awoke early the other morning prepared to receive visitors and did it with a cordiality that was especially gratifying to the members of Secretary Taft's party on board the Manchuria, which recently sailed from San Francisco bound for the Philippines, writes a Honolulu (Hawaii) correspondent of the New York Tribune. The morning sun shone bright on a harbor in gala attire. From the masts of every vessel in port floated the American flag, and as the ship approached a salute of seventeen guns in honor of the secretary of war was fired from the naval station. A male quartet of native singers boarded the ship and as soon as comparative quiet was restored sang several quaint Hawaiian melodies. As the Manchuria swung slowly into the pier the Hawaiian band struck up "Alice, Where Art Thou?" and kept it up until Miss Roosevelt appeared on deck.

The following was the official programme of the reception and entertainment at Honolulu of the party:

- 8 a. m.—Arrive at Hackfield wharf from steamer. Carriages in waiting will convey all those who may wish to the Nuuanu Pali. The driving tour will occupy two and one-half hours.
- 10:30 a. m.—Special train to Honolulu plantation and sugar mill, with stops to look over the locks of Pearl harbor.
- 12:30 p. m.—Luncheon at the Royal Hawaiian hotel.
- 2:30 p. m.—Electric car trip through the city to Waikiki, with stop at aquarium. Troop to inspect site of United States naval station; to Kahanui, site of United States army barracks; about Honolulu and through its public buildings may be made under the escort of special subcommittee.
- 5:30 p. m.—Return to the Manchuria.

ALOHA NUI OE.

Commenting on Miss Roosevelt, the Hawaiian Star of July 14 had this to say:

"People may talk as they please about secretaries of war, about senators and governors or congressmen, stout gentlemen, thin gentlemen, young, old or middle aged gentlemen, but, as a matter of fact, the prime interest of all of today's reception lay in the personality of Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of the president of the United States. Was there one woman—or man either, for that matter—who asked particularly which was the secretary of war or which was the eloquent senator from this state or that, as the crowd of passengers drifted down from the Manchuria this morning? There may have been, but if so the matter escaped notice. No; every one asked the same question, 'Which is Miss Roosevelt?' and the bright eyed girl who stepped smilingly ashore at the call of 'Come along, Alice,' from Secretary Taft, plainly enjoyed the interest which was taken in herself. She was just the simple, straightforward American girl, and the fact that she enjoys much more than the average share of good looks in addition to being the daughter of the chief executive seemed to make no difference to her. Miss Roosevelt is unquestionably a handsome girl, and she carries her good looks with a charming unconsciousness. It is something to be recorded when every woman on the good ship Manchuria had a good word to say for the young girl who occupies the position which Miss Roosevelt does aboard the Manchuria. 'She is just a sweet, pleasant girl,' remarked the wife of one senator this morning. 'She has no airs, despite all the fuss that people have made over her, and there is nothing too nice to be said about her.'"

The party reached the Manchuria shortly before 5 o'clock, tired, but greatly pleased with the beauties of the island and enthusiastic over their welcome. Miss Roosevelt said, "The people of Hawaii are the most hospitable I have ever met," and this expressed the view of the entire party.

When the Pacific Mail steamer Manchuria poked her nose westward through the Golden Gate the Taft party, as it was unofficially called on the coast, breathed a grateful sigh of relief that it had escaped from the warm hearted though strenuous hospitality of San Francisco with nothing more serious than an impaired digestion and loss of rest. The ship was a bower of roses, while the staterooms of Miss Roosevelt and other members of the party were banked with floral godspeeds. On the pier to witness the departure of the ship for the Orient was a great crowd, in which several nationalities were represented. The orientals were huddled in distinctive attitudes, sitting on crossed legs and chatting like magpies. The Japanese were arrayed in gay colors, while the Chinese women were clad in somber black, their smooth, raven black hair coiled in fantastic shapes and held in place by curious bands and pins of gilt and enamel. An occasional tear or gesture revealed the emotion lack of the expressionless features, and as the ropes were drawn in and the ship moved out to sea a great shout arose from the gesticulating throng, and simultaneously the air was filled with the unique Chinese prayers for a safe voyage.

On Sunday, the day following the departure from the coast, nothing unusual occurred until General Grosvenor upset the quiet ease and comfort of the other men of the party by appearing about 6 o'clock in a dress suit. Secretary Taft, Senators Scott and Newlands and Representative Payne were lounging around the social room arrayed in loose flannels, and this vision startled the group into immediate action. Turning to Senator Scott, Secretary Taft said:

"Scott, what under heavens does Grosvenor mean by his dress parade?"

A consultation followed, and Scott, Newlands and Payne were appointed a committee to interview and intimidate General Grosvenor, who, however, flatly declined to abandon dressing for dinner, and the committee reported its findings to the secretary.

"Grosvenor ought to be ashamed of himself," said the secretary sadly, "but we will have to follow his lead." He then started for his cabin. In the meantime General Grosvenor had shown himself in every part of the ship, and in a surprisingly short time not a man of the party, except the ladies, would be found on deck. When the call for dinner was heard, the congressional party almost to a man entered the dining saloon in evening dress. Several pointed remarks were aimed at General Grosvenor, but he "stood pat," and ever since none could be found sufficiently brave to appear at dinner in ordinary attire.

Lecturers or informal talks on interesting topics were given almost daily in the social room and attracted large audiences. Secretary Taft had been in constant attendance, but the other day while Colonel Edwards was discoursing bravely on conditions in the Philippines he fell asleep, and he went at his task so earnestly that every one present knew it. After one especially noticeable period of his slumber Representative Hill nudged him so vigorously that he awoke with a start amid shouts of laughter. Colonel Edwards at dinner the following day in announcing the speaker for the evening said, "All who have taken their afternoon naps are invited to the talk, but all others are excluded."

One evening the hurricane deck was transformed into a miniature ballroom, and the impression of that dance will long remain vivid in the minds of those who participated and the onlookers. The music brought from the home land blended with the song of the sea, while the dark draperies of the flags slant out the night, and only the soft light from the lanterns revealed the dancers. Among them glided representatives of many nations, the Philippines, Japan, Hawaii and the United States. It was late before Miss Roosevelt, escorted by Representative Longworth, appeared among the early dressed dancers. In the wavering light she looked almost unreal in her clinging gown, which matched the sea. As she glided through the dance her long spangled scarf wound itself around her, serpentine, permitting only fleeting glimpses of the single rose nestling in her breast. Secretary Taft danced frequently, and no man on the floor was lighter on his feet than the big cabinet officer.

ILLINOIS MAN AN ARAB SHEIKH

Zarl W. Jenks of Belvidere Chosen as Leader by Egyptian Tribe.

Illinois is again to the front. One of its sons has been elected an Arab sheik, says a Belvidere (Ill.) special dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald. The lucky man is Zarl W. Jenks, who formerly lived at Belvidere. He now is in the region near Kena, Egypt, prospecting for coal, his employer being a London company. Sheik Jenks has written to his aunt in Belvidere, Mrs. E. B. Plante, telling much to her astonishment of his elevation as ruler of a turbulent, saddle colored clan. It appears that he has under his command about 200 Bedouins, and these followers of the prophet have conferred on the Illinoisan the title of sheik.

Mr. Jenks writes that he finds it hard to dine with his brother sheiks without knife or fork, but he says philosophically that what can't be cured must be endured. He adds that the expedition is costing about $150 a day and that the work is hard, but that he is well equipped with drilling machinery.

In the letter to his aunt sheik Jenks inclosed his latest photograph, showing a bearded countenance that is tanned as brown as roasted coffee. He seems to take pride in the declaration that now he can ride a camel as well as he rides a horse, but he leaves the impression that he is not enamored of the "hot sands" country.

Visit of Perry's Cousin to Japan.

It seems particularly appropriate at this time, when the United States is the chief instrument in making peace between Russia and Japan, that a relative of Commodore Perry, who opened the door to American commerce in the Japanese dominions, should be on her way to Tokyo, says the Philadelphia Press. Mrs. A. B. Cavalry of Richmond Hill, N. Y., a cousin of Commodore Perry, who recently started for Japan, is accompanied by the daughter of Bishop McKim, who has been bishop of Tokyo for twenty-seven years, and by the daughter of Bishop Graves, the bishop of China and Japan. The tourists on their arrival will be received by Bishop and Mrs. McKim and will go with them to their lovely home in Tokyo. After a few days' rest they will go by Jimikisha to Nikko, famed for its Buddhist and Shinto temples and ancient bronzes of priceless value, and will remain there for the rest of the summer.

Source of Electricity in China.

As the completion of the electric tramway in China draws near the rumors among ignorant natives grow apace, says the Singapore Free Press. The latest is that 500 Chinese heads must be procured and buried under the power house before the "kreia hantu" can start running. In consequence of this Jimikisha coolies refuse to take fares into the country districts at night.

IN FIELD OF SPORT

GAUNTLET HURLED BY UNKNOWN MAN

Luttbig Promptly Agrees to Meet Wrestler, Who Refuses to Reveal His Identity.—Match Now Being Arranged.

The following letter bearing a Kenton date has been received by the sporting editor of the Advocate. he letter is self-explanatory:

Dear Sir—I understand that the famous Max Luttbig is wrestling in your town. Now I will send an unknown man down that will wrestle Luttbig for any amount of money he wants to bet and all of the gate money. The match to be catch as catch can style, two best in three, pin falls only to count, with strangle hold barred. My man will weigh in at not over 150 pounds and has defeated Al Ackerman of Lima, O.

Now let me know at once. The earlier this match takes place the better it will be for us.

Thanking you in advance for the interest you may take in this and awaiting an early reply, I am yours truly, E. D. RANKIN.

The ink on the above epistle was hardly dry before the sporting editor had a line on Max Luttbig and the little strong man was shown the challenge.

"Tell Rankin to send on his man," said Luttbig, as soon as he finished the letter.

"I'm open to wrestle all comers, but until I know who Rankin's man is I will not post a side bet. I will wrestle anyone at any time on two weeks' notice, the winner to take all gate receipts, but a man would be foolish to post a big side bet, not knowing whom he was to wrestle."

Thereupon, a letter was sent at once to Rankin at Kenton. The date suggested was Friday, Aug. 18, but whether the match can be arranged for that date is not known.

Luttbig is of the opinion that Rankin's man is Adamson. The latter has defeated Ackerman and did it easily. Should Adamson come to Newark, the lovers of the sport will see one of the prettiest contests ever pulled off on the canvas mat in Newark.

CONSUMERS ACCEPT

Manager Fox's Offer to Post a Side Bet On Game to Be Played On Neutral Grounds.

Manager John Dold of the Consumers' team accepted the offer of Manager Fox of the King company's team to post a side bet of $25 on a game between the two teams to be played on neutral grounds.

Dold states that he knew nothing of a meeting of the City league managers on the night of Aug. 3. He also denies that the Texas grounds were too muddy for ball playing.

Manager Dold states that Otis Smith has violated the rules of the City league, especially the one regarding the holding of uniforms by players who are no longer members of the team.

A Challenge.

The United Owl Baseball team challenges the True Blues for a game of ball to be played on the Tenth Street diamond Saturday afternoon. If they accept this challenge let them notify us through the columns of this paper.

Didn't Want Rain Checks.

In Newark Monday after it rained and the game was called off between the Moguls and Newark, rain checks were issued to patrons. They will be good Sunday, but Zanesville patrons will not care to go to Newark next Sunday, says the Times-Recorder.

Among those asking for their money back and who were refused was County Prosecutor C. C. Lemert. Now it happens that Manager-Owner Hayes of the Newark Idollwides was formerly a detective on the C. & M. V. railway. Here he was shown favors in Common Pleas court. But some of the railway cases are yet to be tried in the next term of court, and here it may be that Prosecutor Lemert may gently remind Hayes of the rain check trick. Mr. Hayes may pay out some board while waiting for the trial of his cases here.

Will Lillis Come?

Word comes from Mt. Vernon now that Pitcher Lillis of the Mt. Vernon team will "stay with the ship" and will not accept the terms offered by Newark. Lillis and Humphreys at one time had their names to Lancaster contracts and Humphreys, it is claimed, was induced to remain with Goodrich's team. Lillis, however, will play with Lancaster.

Knepper Goes Home.

Big Charlie Knepper left Wednesday for his home in Indiana, where he will visit for several days. Knepper will then go to Kenton, Ind., where he has signed to play independent ball.

Newark 7, Mt. Gilead 2.

At Mt. Gilead Wednesday the Newark team defeated Southpaw Webb in a one-sided game, the score being 7-2.

to 2. Teddy Purcell pitched for the locals and was accorded good support.

Zanesville 16, Steubenville 4. Steubenville again lost to the Moguls yesterday, Drumm's men batting three pitchers mercilessly. The score:

A Challenge.

The United Owls challenge the National Stars for a game Sunday morning on the Tenth Street diamond.

The National Stars won a game from the Brooklyn Stars Thursday morning, the score being 11 to 1. Fast fielding and hard hitting by the National featured the game. Batteries—Stelzer and Chilcote; McGinley and Whacker.

Baseball Notes.

Late last night Manager Anderson of the Moguls secured Mt. Vernon for a game at Gant park Sunday. "Lefty" Boyle will twirl for Mt. Vernon. Jack Goodrich, Mt. Vernon's manager, is the authority for the statement that his team has not gone to the wall and that it will not go.

"Bobby" Clark may finish the season with the Mt. Vernon team. Clarke is a good man, both in the field and at bat. He is swift on bases, too.

The Lancaster management made "love" to Ilger of Goodrich's team Tuesday, and he decided to marry the team. On Monday Ned declared that he would not remain with Lancaster.

Lancaster wants Humphreys, third baseman on the Mt. Vernon team. Harley had about decided to join the team Wednesday, but "arrangements" were made to keep him here. Most any team would like to have him.

Lillis has had a dozen offers from the Idlewild management. The papers there stated Tuesday evening that "Lil" would join the Newark bunch Tuesday evening. Manager Goodrich stated Wednesday that the big pitcher will hardly leave the locals, as he is satisfied here.—Republican-News.

Wilhelm, a catcher and outfielder from Canton, arrived in Mt. Vernon yesterday and will probably be given a chance to play on the Mt. Vernon team if he can make good.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. RECORD WHEAT CROPS

Are Now Being Harvested in Washington and Oregon.

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 10.—Reports to the state grain inspector from nearly all the grain-growing sections of the state of Washington have resulted in the state inspector's predicting that Washington will harvest the largest wheat crop in her history. Circular letters received from several large growers and mill men throughout the state show the prospect of a large crop, but also show that the acreage is larger than for many years. The yield will probably average from 22 to 25 bushels per acre. The crop of barley is fair and will probably yield from 35 to 40 bushels to the acre. Oats will yield from 35 to 40 bushels per acre.

One leading miller stated that he had not tested any of the new wheat that graded less than 58 pounds, and some of it tested 62 pounds.

Oregon also is harvesting one of the largest crops in her history.

Ban on Bananas.

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 10.—A ban was placed on banana messengers in the quarantine against fever by Secretary Egan of the state board of health. Word was sent to the Illinois Central and Mobile and Ohio roads that banana messengers from southern points or yellow fever regions could not enter southern Illinois. Banana trains at present will be allowed to run through southern Illinois, without stopping. On examination the banana cars have shown the presence of mosquitoes.

Cruiser Variag Floated.

Tokyo, Aug. 10.—The imperial navy department has announced the successful floating of the cruiser Variag. In view of the difficulty encountered there is a strong feeling of general satisfaction over the raising of the vessel. The Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz were sunk by the Japanese in the harbor of Chemulpo on Feb. 9, 1904.

Postoffice Closed.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The post-office department has ordered the closing of the postoffice at Vinton, La., on account of the local quarantine conditions. No mail trains now run into Vinton, and until they do the department will not reopen the office.

Republicans Having Trouble.

The Republicans of this Senatorial district which embraces Delaware, Licking, Muskingum and Perry counties, are having their troubles and mingled with the worry is a rumor of attempted bribery. Up to date the Senatorial convention has cast 1370 ballots in a vain effort to nominate a candidate for Senator. Sitings having been held twice at New Lexington and once at Olentangy park, Columbus. Each ballot has been like the first and the deadlock seems more secure than at the opening day of the convention. The factions are bitter and each county delegation is determined that the favorite son of each of the other counties shall not land the nomination. Each candidate professes to be sure of the nomination in the end but it is evident that here must be a sell out or a dark horse chosen if the Republicans desire a nominee in the pending campaign.

The delegates had a farcical meeting at Columbus on Tuesday and after taking 202 ballots there and indulging in the pleasures of Olentangy park they adjourned to meet out at Buckeye Lake Park, where the cool breezes blow, on September 5. Perhaps in the meantime George B. Cox will get busy and settle the Republicans' troubles for them. They evidently need outside help and Boss Cox is a past-master in this line of work.

Mr. Ransbottom, the Muskingum county candidate before the Republican Senatorial convention, on several occasions ran his bottom within one vote of the nomination and sat down on anybody else getting it.

How Much Longer Will Ohio Endure It?

That bossism in politics is becoming more and more odious to the people of all parties, is a condition universally in evidence and every observer of public affairs is giving it serious thought and comment. It is only a question of time at the rate public sentiment is developing and progressing, when the pernicious bosses will be dethroned in every State. In Ohio it is the only issue of consequence this year. In a number of other States where bossism has been rampant the evil has either been wrecked or the bosses are dead, but in none of them has a boss of the disreputable personal character of George B. Cox been tolerated. It is a question of how much longer the disgrace will be endured in Ohio.

Stay Many Birds. Discovery Made By Fancier, Who Suggests Means of Stopping Slaughter

"Baltimore, Aug. 10.—Scores of canaries and other birds in this city are the victims of the merciless attacks of mosquitoes. Great numbers of birds become weak and die as a result of having the life blood sucked from their bodies by the insects at night.

"Scores of birds die in this city each year," said Mr. James A. Graham, a canary fancier, "of the attacks of mosquitoes. Several years ago I noticed that the legs of my pets were swollen and the skin cracked and sore. The birds perceptibly shrunk in size, and were almost dead when it was suggested to me that mosquitoes had something to do with the trouble.

"I at once set to work, accepting the mosquito theory as the correct one. The cages were covered with net to keep out the pests, and as an extra precaution the legs of the birds were dipped in oil of pennyroyal, red cedar and other remedies with perfectly satisfactory results. The insects can bite through the feathers of the canary with perfect ease. All birds when they sleep during the summer spread out their feathers, making it easy for the long-billed mosquito to reach their bodies."

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—There appears to be trouble ahead for those who are drafting the bill to establish a new banking code for this state. This work has been in the hands of a committee appointed by the State Bankers' Association, the legal work being performed by Drausin Wulsin of Cincinnati. One of the expected sources of opposition will be from the legal profession.

The trust companies have been cutting into the business of the attorneys by acting in fiduciary capacities. It is understood the new code will endeavor to restore to the trust companies the rights they once possessed, and if this is demonstrated a fierce fight will follow. Again, there is objection to the bankers drafting the law to govern themselves. In the past all attempts at enacting regulating acts were defeated by the bankers, who established a lobby here.

The geese this time say that the fox is not to be chosen as the guardian of their interests. The depositors will insist upon being heard from when the bill is being made. The ambiguous and evasive language of the Republican state platform upon this issue has created this feeling of opposition, aside from the trust features spoken of. At Democratic headquarters a statement has been issued which is regarded as a challenge to define in detail exactly what it intends to do in this matter.

This statement says:

"The Governor and Dick and the boss are all promising a bank inspection law as part payment in exchange for another term of the Legislature and the offices. Let them tell the whole story—how the Moore Senate bill was defeated; in which corner of the Statehouse the lobby was quartered day and night; how many checks, and from what institutions, were required to kill the bill and how many members of the House talked over the long distance from a certain Statehouse office with George B. Cox in Cincinnati on the 20th day of April, 1904. That is the day the bill was drawn and quartered in the house of its supposed friends, and all the Statehouse dom rejoiced and made merry."

There is no question that the bill was lobby-slaughtered. Those who controlled the majority went further, even to the extreme. They succeeded in eliminating from the state depository act the section which gave the State Treasurer the right to examine the banks in which the funds of the state were to be kept.

Trouble Ahead

Of the Men Who Are Drafting a New Banking Law for Ohio.—In Committee's Hands.

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—A morning paper says that George K. Browning, the Muskingum county leader, Professor W. L. Atwell of Johnstown, Licking county's candidate for senator and other Republicans of the joint Fifteenth-Sixteenth district, have made a deal to break the long deadlock which has caused the taking of 1370 ballots at New Lexington and Olentangy park. This deal, says the paper, foreshadows the nomination of Frank M. Ransbottom of Muskingum county, when the delegates meet again at Buckeye Lake on Sept. 5.

The story is repeated here to the effect that an offer was made to Geo. H. Hamilton of $500 for Licking county's vote, notwithstanding Mr. Hamilton's denial that such a proposition was made him. The story is told is that it was not an attempt at personal bribery, but was made in an effort to pay Atwell's expenses and get him off the race track. Charles Cochran, the cement block manufacturer of Newark and formerly of Dresden, who has been talked of as a candidate, was mentioned as a possible candidate last spring.

The paper in question concluded its story with the following:

"The men back of the Muskingum-Licking deal excuse their opposition to Senator Overturf by pointing out that he has had three nominations. His first nomination was in 1899, and he owed it to the expertness of Newton D. Miller in tossing a penny.

"Perry county served notice that its voters would go to Muskingum if Delaware and Licking did not get together.

"Mr. Miller and Fred Black of Newark threw a penny to decide whether it should be Mr. Overturf or Judge Walter Irvine, Licking's candidate. Mr. Overturf won the toss, and was duly nominated, but was defeated by Senator Lawrence, Democrat, of Muskingum. Mr. Overturf was nominated and elected in 1901 and 1903.

DEATH DID NOT STOP WEDDING

JOHN EVANS' DAUGHTER MARRIES JOSEPH HUSSEY AT WHEELING, W. VA.

Man Who Passed Away on Train Near Pataskala Was Columbus Brick-layer, Aged 63 Years.

The death of John J. Evans, a brick-layer of 645 East Long street, Columbus, on a B. and O. train near Pataskala while he was enroute to Wheeling to attend the wedding of his daughter, Anna, did not cause a postponement of the marriage ceremony.

The daughter, Miss Anna Evans, a nurse who for some time was connected with the District Nurses' association, became engaged to Joseph Hussey of Philadelphia, and it was arranged that the wedding should take place Wednesday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Williams of Wheeling. Mrs. Evans started for Wheeling Tuesday at noon to attend and Mr. Evans started Tuesday night. On the train with him was Rev. John Hammond, the Welsh minister; as announced in Wednesday's Advocate the body was taken from the train here and then returned to Columbus.

It was hastily decided that the wedding should take place as arranged, and a later telephone message from Wheeling stated that the ceremony had been quietly performed at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Evans was 63 years of age. He was born in Ebersburg, Pa. His name was incorrectly given Wednesday as Eblins.

ARRANGE DEAL TO BREAK DEADLOCK

STORY THAT MUSKINGUM AND LICKING HAVE FIXED IT FOR RANSBOTTOM.

Nomination of Overturf the First Time Decided by Flip of Copper, So It Is Alleged.

Columbus, Aug. 10.—A morning paper says that George K. Browning, the Muskingum county leader, Professor W. L. Atwell of Johnstown, Licking county's candidate for senator and other Republicans of the joint Fifteenth-Sixteenth district, have made a deal to break the long deadlock which has caused the taking of 1370 ballots at New Lexington and Olentangy park. This deal, says the paper, foreshadows the nomination of Frank M. Ransbottom of Muskingum county, when the delegates meet again at Buckeye Lake on Sept. 5.

The story is repeated here to the effect that an offer was made to Geo. H. Hamilton of $500 for Licking county's vote, notwithstanding Mr. Hamilton's denial that such a proposition was made him. Sounds Praises of Columbus as Convention City in Issuing Call to Waterworks People.

In a circular just issued by Secretary William Allen Veach of the Central States Waterworks' association, sounding a call to the convention of the association to be held in Columbus, September 1-14, Columbus as a metropolitan and convention city is thus glowingly touched up:

"Columbus, Ohio, the capital of the state, is a city noted for its state and public institutions. The capitol building, of Gracco-Roman architecture, with its massive columns, stands alone as a famous structure. Visitors from foreign shores look with amazement at its sublime beauty and grandeur. The penitentiary, blind, deaf and dumb asylums, are worth a visit to the capital city. Columbus is a convention city of the first magnitude, noted for the generous hospitality of its citizens. Visitors are made to feel welcome in her precincts.

"The local committee has arranged to have a Georgia barbecue under the charge of a chef and assistants direct from Georgia. These dinners are famous in the south, and something entirely new in this part of the country. 'Once enjoyed will never be forgotten.' The ladies are especially invited to attend this dinner. The feast will be held at the site of the new storage dam on the Scioto river, some six miles from the city. This is but one feature provided by the local committee on entertainment. The local committee on entertainment will leave nothing undone to make our visit to their charming city a most pleasant and enjoyable one. Rest assured that a most cordial welcome and royal reception await you.

"The storage dam is one-fourth of a mile long and thirty feet above low water. It is constructed entirely of concrete masonry. A purifying and softening water plant of thirty million gallons daily capacity, and the largest sewage disposal works in the world will be practically completed. These mighty works of sanitary and engineering skill are monuments to the city and their builders, and a visit and inspection of them will be of vital importance to the water works fraternity at large. Don't fail to come."

Protestant Federation.

Troops and Jews Clash.

Three Drowned.

Pittsburg, Kan., Aug. 10.—John Walters and his two sons were drowned in Hickory creek, near McCune, Kan., while trying to ford the creek with a load of hay. Recent heavy rains had caused the stream to rise.

LIVES DEARER THAN OUR VERY OWN

How many lives dearer to us than our very own have been placed in needless jeopardy by failure to provide against and forestall the great suffering which too frequently accompanies and follows the bearing of children? That we would do anything within our power to obviate the possibility of such an happening is too patent to admit of question; therefore—mark well this fact—a liniment, by name, has been devised, whose function it is to prepare in advance the muscles and tissues intimately associated with parturition.

This liniment is for external application. By its use the parts are relaxed and enabled to withstand not only the actual strain brought to bear on them during accouchement, but also to rally from this ordeal and speedily regain their normal proportions and tonicity. It is not irritating to the most sensitive surfaces, and is applicable to all cases. It's not enough to call it Mother's Friend—it's the friend of the whole family. $1.00, all druggists. The opening attraction at this popular playhouse on Wednesday, August 23 will be Rowland & Clifford's "Dora Thorne." The story of "Dora Thorne" is too familiar a one to permit of much comment, but as a play it is provoking wide spread interest, and much surprise is manifest that so successful a novel in the day and time of bookplays has not found its way before the footlights long ere this. Brimful of exciting and interesting situations and affording such numerous opportunities for excellent acting "Dora Thorne" is indeed replete with all the essentials to make a most delightful play. Dora Thorne will be seen at the Auditorium matinee and night, Wednesday, August 23.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only catarrhal cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

WILDNESS

Of West Revived.—Sherwood Rode Horse Into Barrooms and Court-house Also.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 10.—N. E. Sherwood, who recently came here from Wyoming and opened an office for the purpose of selling mining stock, mounted a horse and started out to do the "Wild West" act yesterday. He rode through the streets with a six-shooter in his belt, startling people by whooping at the top of his voice, and then rode into the barroom of the Henshaw Hotel and called for a drink. A negro porter led the horse out.

With a burst of profanity at the indignity put upon him by the porter Sherwood set out on his horse down Farnam street at top speed. He drew rein in front of a saloon on Lower Farnam street, rode into the bar, again called for a drink, at the same time telling the barkeeper to set up the drinks to the house. Again a negro porter led the horse out and again with "cuss words" galore Sherwood put spurs to his steed.

He rode up Farnam street, urged his horse up the long flight of stone steps leading to the big courthouse, rode at a gallop up and down and around the terraces surrounding the temple of justice and was riding leisurely through the corridors of the building when he was arrested. He will be arraigned today.

FOURTH REGIMENT

Of Which Newark Company Forms a Part, Takes Step Forward in Marksmanship.

Lieutenant Colonel B. L. Bargar says the Fourth regiment, O. N. G., of which the Newark company forms a part, will take a considerable step forward on record as marksmen when the figure of merit is determined, and that it will advance from 13 per cent to more than 50. Sergeant C. E. Orr of Newark, who made 348 out of a possible 400 points, and won the state championship, belongs to the Fourth infantry.

This has not been figured up as yet because many of the men desire to shoot again on certain scores, as they have a right to do at any time before the first of the year.

Many of the Krag-Jorgensen rifles used by the men on the range are not suited for fine shooting, although they are serviceable in battle. At the close of the Spanish-American war it was found necessary to have many of them redressed at the arsenals, and in doing this the caliber was slightly increased.

It was considered no more than fair that the men who had used these rifles in fine shooting in which they are apt to prove inaccurate, should have an opportunity to improve their scores with proper guns.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

TESTS MATRIMONY TO NINTH DEGREE

IS MANY TIMES WIDOWED, BUT NEVER THROUGH ADJUDICATION OF ANY COURT.

Matilda Jane Ayers Breaks Kentucky Record and She Is Now Only 33 Years of Age.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 10.—Matilda Jane Ayers has taken to herself her ninth husband, breaking the record of Kentucky; indeed, the record for herself, but she was holder of the champion marriage belt at the time of her eighth wedding. Matilda Jane, though only thirty-three years of age, has been:

Mrs. Morgan Ellet, Mrs. Stephen Boards, Mrs. Edward Lowman, Mrs. Andrew Lottman, Mrs. Nat Lowman, Mrs. Manuel Hudson, Mrs. Dumesnil, Mrs. Ayres, Mrs. Joe Humphrey.

Death, not divorce, has widowed Matilda Jane. No breath of scandal, no ermined court has sent her steward for her weeds.

Matilda Jane was born at Harkins. The other day she became a Humphrey. But between Harkins and Humphrey lie history and romance.

When only 16 years of age fate decreed that she should love a young mountaineer named Morgan Ellet. One night she and Ellet eloped on horseback to Campbellsville, ten miles away, and were married. Her father, who had opposed the match, followed them on horseback and met them on the return. The old man attempted to shoot his son-in-law, but the girl-wife stepped in front of her lord and master and defied her father to shoot. He did not.

Eleven months after Morgan Ellet went hunting. He climbed a fence, his gun slipped, the hammer struck a rail, and Matilda Jane was a widow. There came a wooing. Stephen Boards, a wealthy skinkfint who held a mortgage on the home of Mrs. Ellet. Instead of foreclosing the mortgage he held, he laid siege to the heart of the pretty widow and they were married. One day Boards rode away to foreclose a mortgage on somebody's property. He was shot from ambush and killed. He left a large estate.

Then there came down from the hills young Edward Winton, moon shiner. Matilda Jane would listen to no other suitor, but married the handsome young moonshiner.

One day a posse of "revenuers" as the mountaineers call them, raided the Winton cabin. Edward was away from home, but his sisters attacked the officers and were fighting them when Edward appeared. He stood behind a tree and killed two officers and wounded one or two others, until they returned his fire, and then young Mrs. Winton went back to her old home, once more a widow.

She harkened to love's song when it was warbled by Andrew Lowman. Two years they were happy together, and "Andy" was gathered to his fathers. She then wed Nat Lowman, a brother of Andy. One day Nat took his ax to the mountains to chop wood. At midnight he had not returned, and Matilda Jane went to search for him. When she found a huge tree lately cut down she looked under it and there lay her husband, crushed to death.

One year after her fifth experience of widowhood, Manuel Hudson came to the house, and after a short courtship they were married. Hudson was a lobbyist and would go to Frankfort when the legislature convened. There a zealous partisan for "the other side" shot and killed him. Then one Dumesnil approached, and a little later the pair were married. One day he went to Cincinnati and fell dead from heart trouble.

Shortly after she wed Ayres. He was given to argument so distasteful that when it came to fix the blame for his death the grand jury simply gave it up, and decided it was rather a corner's verdict of suicide. The other day she wed one Joe Humphrey.

STATE NEWS

New Lake Shore Line. Cleveland, O., Aug. 10.—The successful bidders on the building of the new Lake Shore line from Franklin, Pa., to Brockville, Pa., have been selected, and contracts will be signed by Chief Engineer Rockwell in this city before the end of this week. The four contracts call for a total expenditure of approximately $4,000,000. It is not expected that the road will be finished before the end of 1907. This line, which will connect with the Jefferson and Franklin division of the Lake Shore road, taps a territory rich in anthracite, and is significant not only on this account but because, as is understood, the line may be extended as far as Clearfield, Pa., where it would connect up with the Beech Creek division of the New York Central road.

No Concessions Made. Cleveland, Aug. 10.—Secretary J. J. McNamara of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' association said that no concessions had been made either by the organization or the American Bridge company, and as a consequence the strike against the latter would be started today, as previously announced. Secretary McNamara's latest estimate of the number of men who will lay down their tools in response to the strike order is 18,000.

The couple were registered at the hotel as Mr. and Mrs. John McCoy of Burlington, O.

MAY IN MANILA HOT AS AUGUST

PASTOR'S WIFE PASSES HIM A NOTE TO CUT IT SHORT, IT IS VERY HOT.

Church Going and Sermonizing a strenuous affair in such mid-summer conditions.

New York, Aug. 10.—The Rev. Dr. S. B. Rossiter, pastor of the American church in Manila, which is maintained by the P. I. Synodical board of foreign missions, wonders how clergymen in America would like to have mid-summer conditions all the year round. That is what he has to contend with in Manila. In his May report, just received at the office here of the board named, he says:

"May has been a 'corker.' You will appreciate conditions here if you recall what church work is in New York during August. It is August weather of the worst kind in the month of May here and we have to do our church work in August conditions all the year round. You will not wonder that congregations are varied and small, and that the pastor's wife should have the temerity to write on a piece of paper and send it to the pulpit: 'Ross, cut it short; it is very hot this morning,' and that the poor preacher should go home as wet as though he had been plunged in a bath. But I do not believe it is any hotter here than it was in the Jordan valley in Christ's time (singular there is nothing said about the weather in the New Testament) and the Gospel must be preached. Our church is changing its constituency now very rapidly. The troops are being concentrated at Fort McKinley, five miles away. Nearly all the officers' families accustomed to worship with us have been ordered away. The soldiers who used to attend the meetings have also gone. All of this makes a difference in the size of our audiences, but it furnished opportunity for labor in other fields. One of our young men is about to establish a Sunday school at Fort McKinley and we may start a preaching service there. It is the evident intention of the government to weed out Americans and put natives in their places (in the army) in order to save expenses. So the Americans are being sent home. We are feeling this in the store, on the streets, in the churches and the condition will remain for two or three years, till capital begins to be invested here, and people come out from the States to fill positions other than governmental ones." Estimates for the building of the Presbyterian chapel in Manila are so high that the plans and specifications have been sent to New York in an effort to get the steel work done here at a lower rate, so that the building may be erected within the appropriation, $10,000. Manila estimates run in the neighborhood of $18,000. It may be that a wooden framed building, instead of a steel one, will have to be adopted. This would save about $6000.

FIRST TRAIN

Into Brown County, Whose Citizens Didn't Want Roads.—Kept Them Out For Years.

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 10.—A railroad train has entered the boundaries of Brown county for the first time in the history of the county. It steamed in over the tracks of the Indianapolis Southern and was made up of Illinois Central engine No. 272 and two flat cars containing steel rails for the new railroad.

The entrance of Brown county's first train was attended by no ceremony whatever, and not more than a dozen persons besides the railroad employees saw the event that marks a new epoch in the history of Brown county.

The Indianapolis Southern is now laying three miles of rails each day in Brown county, working toward Bloomington. When the rails are laid in that county as far as Shuffie Creek the work will be delayed until the bridge over that stream is completed. The concrete, however, is all in for this bridge, and as soon as the construction is completed the laying of rails will be continued over to Bloomington.

An Indianapolis Southern official declares trains will be running between Bloomington and Indianapolis not later than Christmas. Speaking about the running of trains now between Morgantown and Brown county the official said:

"We are running trains, but it would make you seasick to ride on them, as the roadbed is a little rough yet."

It is a matter of history that many Brown county citizens stoutly opposed the building of the road and were unwilling to sell land for right of way.

His Wait at Sandstone

By LEONARD FRANK ADAMS

Copyright, 1905, by L. F. Adams

Overton drove into Sandstone behind a pair of reeking bronchos just in time to see the daily eastward train pulling away from the station. He shouted like a wild man and waved his hat in vain. The train pulled steadily away from the station, and by the time he had reached the wooden shack, dignified by that name, the rapidly disappearing brass railings on the rear platform told him of a twenty-four hour delay in this stupid town.

Overton hurried his suit cases on to the platform one after another and swore. Then he turned to the grinning cow puncher who had driven him over from the ranch, thrust a handful of cigars toward him and wished him luck on his thirty mile drive back. "Hahn't you better go back to the ranch with me?" the puncher suggested.

"IN HEAVEN'S NAME"—HE BEGAN.

"No," said Overton and added sardonically: "Think I'll do the town to-night. There's a hotel here, isn't there?"

The other's grin broadened. "There's a place that goes by that name," said he. "Hop in. I'll drive you back there."

Overton picked up one of the suit cases and climbed into the wagon. They bumped along the street and pulled up before a rambling wooden building in front of which a sign, which the weather had rendered illegible, cracked in the wind.

Overton bade his driver goodbye, wished him luck once more and then entered the hotel. The office was not inviting; neither was the proprietor, who lounged in his shirt sleeves behind the desk. Overton's heart sank. The twenty-four hours he must wait here for the next train bade fair to drag heavily. He wrote his name on the snuggly register.

The proprietor adjusted his spectacles, looked at the signature and then frankly scanned his guest.

"Well," he drawled, "I ain't got much in the way of accommodations for you. First two floors is all took up by a theatrical company playing here this week. Have to put you at the top of the house."

"All right," said Overton shortly.

The proprietor eyed the suit case knowingly.

"What's your line," he asked affably, "cigars or patent medicines?"

"Neither," growled Overton, and the proprietor lapsed into silence.

Overton sat in the dingy office smoking moodily until supper was announced. The meal was a happy disappointment, and after it was finished Overton felt decidedly better natured. Returning to the office he stood before a gaudy poster which announced that "the Gordon-Stanley company, an all star combination, will be seen at the Sandstone Opera House the week of June 6."

He ran his eye over the repertory. "As You Like It" was billed for that evening. Shakespeare in Sandstone bade fair to be amusing. He would take in the show.

At 8 o'clock he repaired to the opera house and bought his seat. The place was bare and dingy, redolent, too, of must and kerosene. Shakespeare was evidently not to Sandstone's taste, for but few of the seats were filled. Before the stage a piano, badly out of tune, was being maltreated by a bald-headed man with black side whiskers. The overture came to an end, the curtain went up, and the all star production of "As You Like It" began.

It was a disappointing affair—neither good enough to be interesting nor bad enough to be ridiculous. It was simply dull, colorless. Overton, leaning back in his seat, smothered several yawns and then dozed intermittently. As well doze here as in the hotel office, he told himself gloomily.

Suddenly he sat up, wide awake. Rosalind was on the stage, and something in Rosalind's voice was very familiar. He leaned forward, staring frankly. He watched Rosalind's every move, he listened to every intonation of her voice. He was aware of a tightening at his throat and a tingling sensation in his fingers. Of course it was only some one absurdly like her, he told himself, and yet, when the first act was finished, he sought the drowsy individual who served as usher and drew a card from his case. "Take this to Miss—er"—he consulted his programme—"Miss Lee," he said. The usher demurred. "Orders is not to let any one behind the scenes," he declared. Overton produced a dollar bill. "Better try," he said, smuggling it into the usher's hand. The man departed, but a moment later he returned and beckoned Overton to follow him. They went to the rear of the building, entered a low doorway and passed down a narrow hall with little doors opening on to it from either side. Before one of these they stopped and the usher knocked. The door was opened, and Rosalind stood before them.

"Phil! Phil!" she cried, and the word was almost a sob.

Dazed, embarrassed, he entered the dressing room and sat down on a trunk.

"In heaven's name"—he began.

"Don't—please don't ask me about it," she pleaded.

Overton rose, his face very grave. "Mabel," he said, "once I asked you to marry me and you refused. Now I demand it, and I shan't take a refusal."

"You—you don't want me now," she said.

"I do want you," he said stoutly.

"I told you once that I should live for my art." She waved her hand scornfully about the little room, littered with dingy costumes and make-up boxes. "This is my art. Oh, how I have come to hate it," she ended bitterly.

"Mabel, you will leave it all—you will come with me?" he said very gently.

She hid her face in her arms. "Please—please go away," she begged. "If you stay, I shan't have the strength to refuse you."

"I don't intend to lose you again," said Overton, settling himself stubbornly on the trunk.

That night at 11 o'clock the one clergyman in Sandstone was routed from his sleep to read the marriage service, and the fee he received is still his record breaker.

As for the leading lady of "the all star combination," her release from her contract was purchased by her husband, but, with fine discrimination, he has never let her know that the price was $20, nor has he ever mentioned the manager's evident satisfaction at the bargain.

A Swiss Mountain Pass.

Two miles from the characteristic Swiss village, Andermatt, the Devil's bridge crosses the roaring Reuss just below a beautiful cascade which wets the bridge with its spray and where the pass is so narrow that the mountains almost touch.

How the Russians and French could have fought a battle here is difficult to comprehend, for the sides of the mountains appear too steep for human foot to find lodgment. Yet here is a tablet set in the rock glorifying Suvoroff, the victorious Russian commander. Below this begins the somber, rocky defile of the Schoenen between almost perpendicular granite rocks, the scene of many a disastrous avalanche.

Four miles by railway from Goeschen to Fluelen and then one mile inland by stage brought me to the village of Tell-Aldorf. Here in the open square was the scene of his great exploit. A fountain now stands where the boy then stood, and a bold, heroic statue of the great freeman adorns the spot where he drew forth the two arrows from his quiver, one to save the life of himself and his son by a daring attempt, the other for the heart of the tyrant Gessler should his aim prove untrue.—Charles E. Wells in Four Track News.

Floating Steel.

Will solid steel float in water? Steel will float if it be so light in weight as not to rupture the surface tension of the liquid. Thus with a little care a fine sewing needle can be made to float on the surface of still water, especially if it is drawn through the hair a time or two, as the minute trace of oil so imparted enables it to resist the wetting action of the water.

It must be understood that liquids, although they have infinitely less cohesive attraction than solids, are not absolutely devoid of this. If there were no cohesion at all between the particles neither drops nor bubbles would be possible.

Consequently every liquid may be looked upon as covered by a more or less cohesive skin of its own substance. So long as the weight of the steel or other solid body is insufficient to break through this skin it will float on the surface, although heavier bulk for bulk than the liquid itself.—London Answers.

Might Have Been an Ancestor.

Mrs. Alhambra, who has not as yet got over the novelty of riches, is not inclined to admit the fact. On the contrary, it is her great desire that the society with which she is now entitled to mix by virtue of her husband's wealth shall think she was born in the purple.

Recently she was at a big dinner party, and as she was being piloted from drawing room to dining room she noticed a marble bust on one of the pillars in the hall.

"Do you know who that is?" she inquired of her cavalier.

"That is Marcus Aurelius," was the answer.

"Oh, is it now?" ejaculated the lady. "But can you tell me," she asked, "whether it is the present marquis of the late marquis? I get so mixed up with dukes and things!"—London Express.

THE HOUSE HOSPITABLE.

The Large Living Hall and the Old Time Dining Room.

In a home where the household enters into out of door sports the living hall assumes an air of enjoyable freedom that is attained in no other room in the dwelling. A neighborly sociability, too, fits more easily into the informal than the formal hall. In fact, for some people and in some places there is no pleasanter expression of family life than in the large, hospitable living hall. For this reason the example shown in the illustration has many details that will appeal especially to the makers of homes.

The lower walls are paneled with dark wood, and the dark beams in the ceiling are lightened with buff tinted plaster. The walls are painted a soft shade of olive, and an almost indecipherable pattern is shown in the upper color in a slightly deeper tone. The windows have buff colored linen shades with curtains made of brown net. Outside are long reaches of valleys and distant mountains, and in entertaining the windows the pictures painted by nature are merely framed in and not shut away.

The mahogany table in the center of the floor has a reading lamp of its own, and a general light is diffused through the room by a wrought iron lantern hanging from the ceiling by an iron chain. A swinging stool in the corner, a Davenport sofa and easy chairs afford comfortable and varied sitting places for the family. The large spaces of polished floor are broken up by oriental rugs of different sizes.

The dining room takes on a look of established usage from its old time furniture. Two drop leaf mahogany tables are placed against the wall and used instead of a sideboard and a serving table. The extension table is modern, but of good design. However much we may praise our forefathers and their ability in cabinetmaking, we must claim for our own period, although invented by our British cousins, the convenient extension table.

The dining chairs are of Chippendale pattern with open back and rush seat. Some of the antique china is kept behind the glass of a quaint hanging closet, and other pieces are distributed against the lower wall as appropriate and pleasing decoration.

The attraction bestowed by the old time pieces in this room is in vivid contrast with much of the uninteresting conventional furnishing we often see in this part of the home.—Designer.

Hunger and Food.

Hunger makes the plainest foods enjoyable. It causes vigorous secretion and outpouring of all the digestive fluids—the sources of pepsin, peptin, tryptase, etc.—without a plentiful supply of which no foods can be perfectly digested. Wait for an appetite if it takes a week. If breakfast is a bore or lunch a matter of indifference, cut one or both of them out. Wait for distinct and unmistakable hunger and then eat slowly. If you do this you need ask few questions as to the propriety and digestibility of what you eat.—Hygienic Gazette.

Pickled Onions.

For pickled onions use the silver skin variety. Place them in hot water to protect the eyes while peeling them. Put into brine for twenty-four hours, boil up, strain off the brine and dry. Then bottle, covering with vinegar. Use white vinegar if you wish to retain the white color. Add some whole peppers, bruised ginger and a little sliced horse-radish.

Fruit Stains.

Fruit stains may be removed from tablecloths and napkins by pouring boiling water through the spots before the articles are washed. Old fruit stains are said to yield to freezing.

Echoes of Fashion.

The circular cloak seems to be a favorite in smart fashions. The circular must have any amount of fullness from the shoulders, and perhaps that is why so many are made of the softest satin, eolienne, radium and even chiffon and lace.

The tulle overskirt is frequently used on afternoon gowns.

Parasols are fussy tucked, shirred, gathered or puckered to accord with the skirts of the fashionable summer gowns.

Boned belts, high and snug fitting, are chosen, used to give a princess gown effect with separate bodice and skirt.

A girl's suspender girdle to wear with a long waisted French dress is composed of dresden ribbon.

The fashionable sleeve is elbow length. When long gloves are not worn little finger undersleeves are tacked in to extend from elbow to wrist.

Chiton voile, very fine and very sheer, is one of the charming new fabrics of the season.

A Simple Poor White Girl

[Original.]

Tom Silcox, moonshiner, was in a trap. He had been caught in what out west they would call a canyon. Through it a mountain torrent had worn its way deep in the rocks and boiled and bubbled unseen by human eye, shaded as it was by an impenetrable growth of trees and brush. This stream was Tom's only outlet. He might trust himself to it and if he came safely through the dangers of cataract and hungry animals would emerge in an open space below. But the end of the route was watched, and the chances of escape were few. Sam Sykes, the leader of the revenue men, was puzzled. He knew a little of the moon and would have been sure of him had he had more men to surround him. But he had only two assistants, and Silcox was a desperate man. One or two lives were likely to be the price of the capture. He was meditating as to what he would do when a girl typical of the country approached him. She wore a cheap calico dress, a check sunbonnet and cowhide shoes.

"Reckon you uns air lookin' for Tom Silcox?" she said.

"What do you know about Silcox?" replied the officer evasively.

"Reckon I'd ought to know somepin about him, seein' the way he's treated me."

"How has he treated you?" "Shook me."

"I see. He's a mean dog, not worthy of a nice girl like you. I should think you'd wish to get even with him."

"So I would if I knowed how."

A crafty expression came over the man's face. "Why not turn him over to us revenue officers?" he asked.

"How could I do that?" "You might pretend you would help him out and give us a chance at him."

The girl's face lighted with an expression of vengeful hunger, but she did not reply.

"I wouldn't mind giving a twenty dollar bill," added the officer.

This time avarice showed plainly on the face of the poor white girl, who never had so much money in her life. Then she began to think. Sykes gave her plenty of time.

"I kin take you uns to whar Tom's hidin'," she said at last.

"It's a bargain."

"Tom's hidin' in an ole cabin. I'll go thar with you uns, but I must have a little time with him outen sight. He's got somepin o' mine I want to git. 'S soon 's I settle that I'll tell him you uns is comin' up the creek and he'd better make tracks up. I might say I got a critter for him up thar."

"Splendid! When shall we go?" "Now's good a time as any."

Sykes called in his men and gave them the plan. They were to follow the girl to the edge of a clearing, where they would lie concealed under the thick brush while she went forward and laid her snare. On the way she told Sykes something of the lay of the land. The cabin was within a few yards of the creek, and this was the reason Silcox had selected it for a hiding place. If attacked he could easily drop down into it and it would be hard to get him. Above the cabin the ground, though comparatively open, was hidden here and there by rocks and scrub trees.

Sykes saw the advantage of her telling the moonshiner that they were coming up instead of down, since it would probably prevent him from taking to the creek. If the officer had any suspicion as to the girl's real intentions they were now dispelled. Indeed, he had suggested the revenge himself. Besides, she was too simple to concoct any plan for an escape. Was she not leading them to Silcox's hiding place?

When they arrived on the ground she said to Sykes:

"D'y want to take him alive or take him dead?"

"Alive if we can."

"Then you uns better go up the creek a spell whar there's an openin' he'll have to go out."

Sykes ordered the two men to do as she suggested. When they had gone she said to him: "'S soon 's I've had my talk, Tom'll go up, as I said. You uns kin shoot him if 's like; I don't keer." This was said with a tremor in her voice, as though in her heart she did care. "Reckon I'd better drop down behind the bank o' the creek to git outen the way o' the bullets. Good-by, I'm off."

Sykes waited the result of the maneuver for about five minutes, when he saw the figure of a man in "butter-nut" swiftly making his way up the creek. He could have easily shot the moonshiner, but he relied implicitly on his falling into the trap above. He saw the calico dress and check sunbonnet disappear behind the bank, but he was intent on the person who had gone the other way. He followed the "butter-nut" keeping him in sight so far as was possible, till he saw his men take him in without a shot. Then he breathed a sigh of relief.

Uncocking his rifle, Sykes walked leisurely toward the others. As he approached them they came to meet him, leaving the prisoner unguarded. He hurried on, reckoning his gun to cover the moonshiner and wondering what they meant by such carelessness.

"Mind your prisoner," he shouted.

"It's the girl," replied one of the men lugubriously.

And so it was. The two had exchanged clothes behind the rock. The girl had gone up the creek, while Tom had dropped behind the bank. Making his way down a short distance he had mounted a horse she had provided and was following a trail that was sure to lead him to safety.

The Poor Boy.

KNOW a small boy, and I pity him so: He's poor in what made me so rich, long ago.

In tame little, clean little sand piles he digs. And can't romp around with the calves and the pigs: No trees may he climb, for his clothes are too good; He mustn't roam round by himself in the wood.

He hasn't a dirty old dog he can squeeze; He dare not play horse round the lawn on his knees; Can't even blow suds till his mamma be-dicks.

His form with a towel tucked in round his neck. Can't jump up and down on a walk board that squeaks—

He's just so indecently clean that it hurts. He can't go out barefoot at dawn for the laws. Shove hay to the horses or follow the plows.

Hunt eggs in the haymow or swim in a pool. Way down in the meadow—through June he's in school! Can't dam up the branch with black muck to his eyes. Can't play he's a baker, with mud for his pies.

He hasn't a big, husky daddy, whose hands Are horny and strong as the best iron bands; Instead, once a week, or such like, he must meet

A man like the others he sees on the street.

Who orders him round—maybe loves him a bit. While this little boy would as leave he should quit. In fact, for this poor little coddler I know, And knowingly, too, for the boy is my own.

DR. TAYLOR IN LINE FOR J. M. PATTISON

FORMER LICKING COUNTY MAN NOW REPUBLICAN LEADER IN VINTON COUNTY.

Throws Bomb Into Camp of His Late Friends.—Tells Why He Is Opposed to Herrick.

Dr. C. D. Taylor, the well known preacher, educator and Republican politician of McArthur, Ohio, who for about ten years lived in Licking county while he preached at Brownsville, Kirtersville, Jacksonstown and Fairmount, announces himself as strongly in favor of the election of John M. Pattison, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. The following from McArthur explains Dr. Taylor's position:

McArthur, O., Aug. 10.—The Republican camp here is thrown into great confusion by the publication in the Democrat-Enquirer, the local organ of the Democratic party in Vinton county, of a letter from Dr. C. D. Taylor, announcing his accession to the cause of John M. Pattison. Dr. Taylor is well known in this part of the state as a preacher, educator and politician. He has been editor of the Vinton County Republican and Vinton Record, also a Republican sheet. He is well known as a veteran of the civil war.

Among other things the doctor says the late lamented Republican convention was not chosen by the party and did not represent the party. "You know," he continued, "how the delegates were chosen in Licking county. A fragmentary Central committee met behind closed doors, adjourned as a committee, reorganized as a mass convention and elected Herrick delegates. The convention did not really nominate Herrick. It went through the motions, but the nomination was already made. It was made the day George B. Cox said 'Governor Herrick deserves the support of all true Republicans.' That settled the question, and the convention simply did the will of its master."

The most important part of the doctor's letter deals with the inside history of the effort put forth by Herrick and Guilbert to take nearly $200,000 from the teachers and school children of the state to balance the expenditures of the last Legislature. On this subject he says: "The levy had been one mill for common school purposes for 30 years. In 1902 it was reduced to

DOZEN SAIL BOATS AT BUCKEYE LAKE

NEWARK AND COLUMBUS MEN ARE OWNERS OF CRAFT ON THIS WATER.

Low Water Just Now Is Increasing the Dangers of Navigation.—Water Is Still Falling.

About a dozen sail boats may now be seen on Buckeye lake, most of which are owned by Newark and Columbus people.

Edward S. Browne, the grocer, has one of the best boats on the water and it was one of the first to be launched. The trim little craft was built by Mr. Browne and Will Foos, but the latter sold his interest some time ago and recently completed a new sail boat, which had its initial wetting a few days ago.

The oldest and largest sail boat on the lake is the Mayflower, owned by the Buckeye Boat club, of which Guy Palmer is president and Ed Humphreys secretary. The other members are Tom Hardman, R. V. Hancock, Herman Hancock, Charles Laver, Fred Umberhauer, Clarence Martin, C. D. Newhall, J. B. Newhall and W. B. Newhall of Columbus.

The Mayflower is 23 feet long, over all, with eight feet beam and carries 125 feet of canvas. She is schooner-rigged, and is the only sail boat on the lake having a cabin. She was built by the club and comfort rather than speed was the object kept in view. The cabin seats nine persons, and the same number can be accommodated for a week's cruise. She has carried as many as 18 passengers at one time. To neutralize the action of the wind against the cabin, she is provided with a heavy center board, which has the effect of materially reducing her speed, but which gives her steadiness in a gale. On more than one occasion she has been the only craft on the lake able to ride out a storm. Many of the Buckeye lake sailors call the Mayflower the "Ark."

The Buckeye Boating club owns also a small, flat-bottomed sailer called the Dipper, a name so appropriate that the members don their bathing suits when they go on board her for a sail.

The Loundria is a craft of the skimming-dish type owned by T. E. Minshall and W. A. Ireland, the Columbus Dispatch cartoonist. She is 27 1/2 feet long and sloop-rigged. She is built for speed and with a moderate breeze moves over the surface of the water at a rate that makes riding a rare pleasure. In a storm, however, a good deal of nautical skill is required to manage her. The storm of July 4 last left her with a broken mast, but still afloat and sound in every plank. The night before had been beautiful, and Mr. Minshall, with a party of friends, had spent the whole night on the water. At daylight the storm broke, and good seamanship was in demand. The stay parted, and the mast followed, but a landing was made without further mishap.

The "Floating Debt" is the suggestive title of a sloop-rigged boat of the Lark type, the property of Caleb L. McKee, the Columbus broker. The most exciting incident in her history was when she stood on her beam end one day and shipped about enough water to load a sprinkling wagon. She is flat-bottomed and low-decked, drawing but little water, showing little above the water line, and carrying very large sails.

Besides the sailing craft and the several excursion boats operated by the Fisher company, many gasoline launches are to be seen on Buckeye lake. Among those who are operating launches of various sizes and makes are: S. P. Van Voorhis, E. M. Bennett, Charles W. Miller, Charles A. Smith, Mr. Mooney, Mr. Ernest and many others. There are now two stern-wheelers operating at Buckeye lake, one of which, built and owned by "Patsy" Kneeland of Newark, goes between Avondale and Glass hotel, just west of Buckeye lake park.

The low water, just at the present time, is bringing it close to the surface of the water, adding to the dangers of navigation. The boatmen say the water is going to waste because of the rotten sluiceways through which it is allowed to run. The state board of public works has been appealed to by boat owners, but nothing has been accomplished. The water is below its normal level, and a still lower point will be reached, unless repairs are made.

At the wasteway near Rosebraugh's, water is leaving the lake at the rate of 1500 barrels a day.

New Marksman Chosen.

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—Adjutant-General Critchfield has added the name of Private Fred Merz to the list of members of the Ohio National Guard that will compete at Sea Girt, N. J. He is a member of Company H, Second regiment, and will take the place of Sergeant S. S. Papst, Company C, Fifth Infantry, who will be unable to attend. A dozen of the marksmen are now on the Newark range. They will go to Sea Girt on Aug. 18.

DR. HARPER

May Quit University.—Rumor That Rockefeller Will Give Away $50,000,000.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—Inability to gain admission to the Rockefeller home made it impossible to confirm the reports that the oil king was planning to make the University of Chicago a $50,000,000 gift, or that Dr. William R. Harper would resign the presidency of the institution. Although Dr. Harper said that his visit to the oil king was of a purely social nature, it was learned that it has to do with the very life of the Chicago institution.

Dr. Harper is suffering from a cancerous growth, and will soon undergo a second operation for its removal. He himself has doubts as to his recovery and he is now planning to turn over the affairs of office to another man.

Dean Vincent, a Methodist, is his choice for the presidency, but in order to make this change it will be necessary to alter the charter of the university. Dr. Harper and Mr. Rockefeller are now planning the change. As the charter now is only a Baptist can preside over the institution, and Dr. Harper not only wants the charter amended in this respect, but is preparing to relinquish the presidency for a time at least.

Dr. Harper and wife arrived here and drove direct to the Rockefeller home. The former became ill shortly after his arrival, and a physician was summoned. The patient retired at 8 o'clock last night in a feeble condition. It is not improbable that the visit of the Harpers may be prolonged to weeks on account of the doctor's ill health. His condition may also defeat some of the important changes contemplated in the Chicago institution's affairs.

A dispatch from Chicago says: President William R. Harper of the University of Chicago, accompanied by Mrs. Harper, have left for Forest Hill, the home of John D. Rockefeller, near Cleveland. The visit it was announced will be purely social.

Dr. Harper said that his health is better than it has been at any time since he was operated on for cancer and that he is retaining his strength while teaching two hours daily, besides attending to his official duties at the university.

WETS MAY WIN AT WASHINGTON C. H.

RESULT MAY BE BROUGHT ABOUT THROUGH TECHNICALITY OF THE LAW.

Manner of Recording Election Seems to Be the Sticker.—Serious For the "Drys."

Washington C. H., O., Aug. 10.—The wets claim to have found a device or oversight in the provisions of the Beal local option liquor law, which if it is true, may make the situation here a serious one for the "drys."

Following the recent decision of Probate Judge Zimmerman, in which it was found that 62 illegal votes had been cast by the wets, who, on the face of the returns, had in March last carried the election by a majority of 48, and deducting the alleged illegal votes from the total wet vote cast left the drys a majority of 14, the city clerk and mayor were each served with an official notice of the court's decree by Sheriff McLean, the City Clerk being directed by Judge Zimmerman to make a copy of the same in the minutes of the City Council. The clerk consulted the city solicitor and other attorneys regarding the matter, and was advised that there was no statutory provision authorizing him to make such an entry on the minutes of the council, the statute bearing upon the Beal law election contests providing that wherever applicable laws governing contests of election of Justice of the Peace be the guide. In the case of the Justice of the Peace the Township must be served with the notice, and therefore the wets hold that no authority is given for making an entry upon the Council minutes, as it cannot be done by getting service on the township clerk, and no provision is made for certifying it up to the city clerk. Members of the city council, it is understood, take the same position. As a result of this situation no entry of the court's finding has gone upon the minutes of council, which still show that the city voted wet at the March election, and do not show that the election has been reversed by the court. It is held by some attorneys that the city record must be the guide for the mayor to proceed upon in such cases; therefore, as the record shows the town to be still wet, no action can be taken by the city authorities to close the saloons until the official records show that the election has been reversed.

Judge Zimmerman and attorneys for the drys say that as both the Mayor and City Clerk have been legally served they are officially familiar with the court's decree, and it makes no difference whether it is placed upon the minutes or left off. The matter of enforcing the law, under the decree of the court, is up to the Mayor.

It is understood that mandamus proceedings will be brought against the city clerk to compel him to make the record which has been directed by the court.

DESPERADO

Fired Seven Shots.—One bullet Perforated Lung of Oliver and Other Fatally Wounded Crowtwer.

Dayton, O., Aug. 10.—As the result of a brawl last night at the Smithville road house on the Springfield pike, Bert Oliver, 32, who resides at Traversburg, O., and Ed Crowtwer, the piano player for the house, lie at St. Elizabeth hospital in a dangerous condition.

The injuries of the two men were inflicted by balls fired from a 44-caliber revolver in the hands of John Harris of Xenia, who started out from his home tonight with the statement that he was bound to find trouble before returning home. He went to the road house and when taken to account for his boisterous conduct he brandished his gun.

Oliver and Crowtwer tried to persuade him to desist from his rowdiness, but failed. Later the quarrel was renewed, with the result that Harris again pulled the gun and fired seven shots. One of the leaden missiles passed through Oliver's left lung and lodged in the muscle of the back. Another penetrated Crowtwer's abdomen, inflicting a fatal wound. After the shooting Harris left the road house and boarded a car for Xenia. The police of that place were notified and arrested him about midnight at his home in the East End, where he was sitting at a table with his wife.

By his side on a stand was the weapon he had used in the shooting, and with it was the heavy cartridge belt well filled with cartridges. One of the officers at a moment when he was off his guard rushed through the door and grabbed the revolver, while the other two captured him, and after a fierce encounter forced him to submit. He will be brought here tomorrow morning.

Royston, Ga., Aug. 10.—State Senator W. P. Cobb was shot and killed yesterday by his wife. Senator Cobb was walking in his sleep at the time, and Mrs. Cobb says that she thought her husband was a burglar.

Sonambulist Cobb had been a sonambulist for years. Mrs. Cobb was aroused by a noise at her window, which was open. Looking out she saw a man moving about on the veranda. As she had been frequent recent-ly, Mrs. Cobb says she thought he was a burglar, and, seizing a pistol from under her pillow, she fired twice.

As Senator Cobb fell he called his wife's name, and Mrs. Cobb realized that she had shot her husband. Both shots took effect, one in the head and one in the abdomen.

Of the Habitual Type Are Insane, According to the View of a Cleveland Judge.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—"That is the type of man which should be dealt with by the Probate Court rather than by the Police Court," said Police Judge Fielder. Before him were arraigned 23 mashers, arrested by the police for violating the sidewalk ordinance.

"Habitual mashers are insane," said the judge. "I regard sidewalk loafing as a graver menace than it is generally considered."

Most of the mashers were fined $2 and costs, but their sentences were suspended pending decent behavior. Two boys were fined the costs.

Who Mistook Him For a Burglar, the Sonambulist Georgia Senator Was Shot Dead.

Royston, Ga., Aug. 10.—State Senator W. P. Cobb was shot and killed yesterday by his wife. Senator Cobb was walking in his sleep at the time, and Mrs. Cobb says that she thought her husband was a burglar.

Sonambulist Cobb had been a sonambulist for years. Mrs. Cobb was aroused by a noise at her window, which was open. Looking out she saw a man moving about on the veranda. As she had been frequent recent-ly, Mrs. Cobb says she thought he was a burglar, and, seizing a pistol from under her pillow, she fired twice.

As Senator Cobb fell he called his wife's name, and Mrs. Cobb realized that she had shot her husband. Both shots took effect, one in the head and one in the abdomen.

MASHERS

Of the Habitual Type Are Insane, According to the View of a Cleveland Judge.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—"That is the type of man which should be dealt with by the Probate Court rather than by the Police Court," said Police Judge Fielder. Before him were arraigned 23 mashers, arrested by the police for violating the sidewalk ordinance.

"Habitual mashers are insane," said the judge. "I regard sidewalk loafing as a graver menace than it is generally considered."

Most of the mashers were fined $2 and costs, but their sentences were suspended pending decent behavior. Two boys were fined the costs.
